Benny Yiu-ting Tai (戴耀廷, LL.B. (HK), P.C.LL (HK), LL.M. (Lond)) is a Hong Kong legal scholar, democracy activist, and an Associate Professor of Law at the University of Hong Kong (香港大學). He graduated from the University of Hong Kong with Bachelor of Laws and Postgraduate Certificate in Laws and obtained a Master of Laws from the London School of Economics and Political Science. He joined the Faculty of Law of the University of Hong Kong in 1990. He became an Assistant Professor in 1991 and an Associate Professor in 2001. He was also the Associate Dean of the Faculty of Law from 2000 to 2008. He specialised in constitutional law, administrative law, law and governance, law and politics and law and religion. He has also been active in promoting civic education in the community. He served on the Hong Kong Basic Law Consultative Committee as a student representative from 1988 to 1990 and was a member of the Committee on the Promotion of Civil Education and the Bilingual Laws Advisory Committee from 1995 to 2003. He was also a part-time member of the Hong Kong government's Central Policy Unit in 2007. Tai with his January 2013 article 〈公民抗命的最大殺傷力武器〉 (“civil disobedience’s deadliest weapon”) published in 《信報財經新聞》 (Hong Kong Economic Journal) initiated the Occupy Central with Love and Peace, a non-violent civil disobedience campaign to pressure the Hong Kong government to implement full democracy in 2014, which then turned into the massive pro-democracy protests. After the protests, he launched the “Project ThunderGo” in the 2016 Legislative Council election, a “smart voter” mechanism aiming at getting the largest number of pro-democracy candidates elected to the Legislative Council. He also initiated "Project Storm" for the pro-democracy candidates to win the majority in the coming 2019 District Council election. <Email: yttai@hku.hk>
